A SHARED WAY TO LEARN

Unlike the Couples Foundation course, where partners learn to massage one another, Give Together focuses on both partners learning to give as a coordinated four-hands team to volunteer receivers. It is a practical, teacher-led experience designed to develop timing, communication, sensitivity and confidence together.

What you will learn

- Creating a relaxed, trusting setting and agreeing clear boundaries before touch.
- Building a flowing full-body sensual massage using coordinated four-hands techniques.
- Working together on rhythm, pressure, transitions, positioning and body awareness.
- Understanding individual arousal responses and developing creative, unhurried foreplay.
- Adapting techniques to the receiver rather than following a rigid routine.

VOLUNTEERS & PRACTICAL TRAINING

Choose the receiver arrangement that best suits your interests and learning goals, subject to volunteer availability and agreed boundaries.

Male and female receivers

Work with one male and one female volunteer, learning how touch and responses may differ between individuals.

Two male receivers

Develop your shared four-hands technique with two male volunteers.

Two female receivers

Develop your shared four-hands technique with two female volunteers.

All volunteer participation is arranged in advance. The content and level of intimacy are agreed with each receiver, with ongoing consent and the freedom to pause or stop at any point.

YOUR COURSE & WHAT IS INCLUDED

Private instruction from Colin Richards combines explanation, demonstration, coached hands-on practice and constructive feedback. Both partners participate as givers and learn to coordinate their touch as a team.
