SCHOOL OF SENSUAL MASSAGE / FOR WOMEN

Massage My Man

Experiential Session

2.5 hours / Guided four-hands massage / Sloane Square

Discover the pleasure of giving

A private guided experience for women who want to give a sensual massage to a man, with Colin working beside them throughout.

90-minute massage • Two receiver options • From £300

Give together, guided throughout

Colin demonstrates the flow and guides your hands, positioning and pace while you work with a male receiver.

A taster, not a teaching qualification. The aim is a rewarding experience for you and an attentive, responsive massage for him. There is no need to remember a complete routine or lead independently.

Why women choose it: curiosity, pleasure in giving, new confidence with a partner, or a first look at Foundation and professional training.

Conversation, guidance and hands-on experience

The practical massage lasts about 90 minutes, with time before and after to prepare and reflect.

BEFORE

Discuss and prepare

Talk with Colin about motivation, your receiver choice, interests, clothing and boundaries. The receiver’s preferences and health considerations are also reviewed.

ABOUT 15 MIN

First movements

Colin introduces back, shoulder, buttock and leg strokes so you can start confidently.

90 MIN

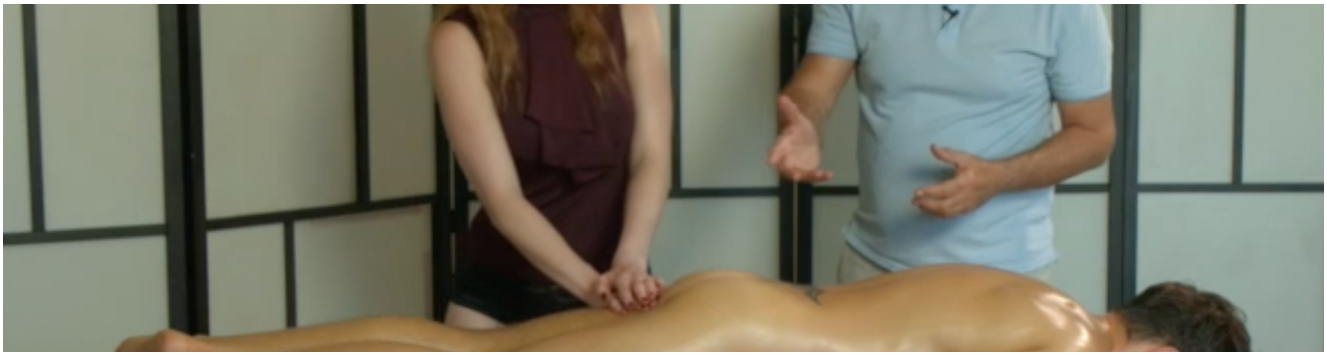

Guided four-hands massage

Work alongside Colin through a full-body Premium-style massage, adapting pace and content to the receiver.

AFTER

Rest and reflection

The receiver rests and showers in privacy. You and Colin discuss what you noticed and whether further training appeals.

A progression that responds to him

These phases organise the experience; the receiver’s responses and agreed boundaries always guide what happens.

01

GETTING TO KNOW

Conversation, health considerations, preferences and preparation.

02

SENSUAL THERAPEUTIC

Traditional massage, sensory contact and gradual relaxation.

03

GENTLE AROUSAL

Slow, intimate whole-body touch where welcomed.

04

SENSUAL AROUSAL

Agreed genital touch, optional prostate work and careful pacing.

05

EROTIC AND RESOLUTION

Orgasmic stimulation if wanted, followed by calming touch and rest.

No obligation to progress. Arousal, erection, reciprocal touch and orgasm are possible responses, never requirements. The student and receiver may pause, redirect or stop any element.

Begin with therapeutic touch

A relaxed receiver can take time to settle before the massage becomes more intimate.

Colin guides you through light fingertip and feather contact, long flowing movements and firmer therapeutic massage of the shoulders, back and legs. Contrast between soothing and teasing touch creates anticipation without rushing.

WHAT YOU NOTICE

- How pressure, rhythm and stillness affect comfort and trust.
- The difference between relaxing touch, sensory teasing and more direct arousal.
- Changes in breathing, movement, muscle tone and responsiveness.
- How the room’s privacy, warmth and gentle music support the experience.

Arousal may begin gradually, or it may not develop. The massage remains worthwhile either way; the receiver has no performance requirement.

Move into intimacy only when welcomed

The four-hands massage may approach the groin, pelvis, buttocks and genitals gradually, with continuing consent.

Colin helps you notice responses and maintain a comfortable pace. A partial or full erection may occur, but arousal does not itself grant permission to introduce another technique. You can remain clothed and focused on giving throughout.

YOUR BOUNDARIES MATTER TOO

- Clothing choice is discussed in advance; nudity is optional.
- Reciprocal touch is never assumed and can be declined.
- Either participant may change their mind during the experience.
- Any assertive element, such as light spanking, must be discussed with Colin and the receiver beforehand.

Keep communication open. Colin guides the movement from full-body massage to more intimate touch without allowing the sequence to override either person’s comfort, preferences or limits.

A responsive ending

The agreed erotic phase can include genital massage and arousal control, followed by time to settle.

POSSIBLE GUIDED ELEMENTS

- Lubricated penis and testicle massage, with variations in pressure and rhythm.
- Edging: building arousal, easing contact and rebuilding if the receiver wishes.
- External perineal or optional internal prostate work only by specific prior agreement.
- An orgasmic conclusion if wanted, with no guarantee or expectation.

RESOLUTION

After the most intense contact, the pace slows. Calming head, scalp or foot touch gives the receiver a cared-for ending. He rests privately before showering and dressing; you and Colin can reflect on the experience afterwards.

> Success is not defined by orgasm. His comfort, choices and overall experience—and your enjoyment of the role of giver—matter more than reaching a particular outcome.

Try it, then decide whether to train

The Experiential introduces the atmosphere and flow. Formal courses develop repeatable skills and independence.

FOUNDATION

Learn a structured full-body routine, arousal principles and the communication that makes intimate touch safe and personal.

INTERMEDIATE

Refine pace and transitions, develop body-to-body connection and expand your supervised practical repertoire.

ADVANCED

Explore more specialised techniques after the core skills and judgement are established.

PROFESSIONAL

Combine technique with boundaries, client care, assessment and business preparation.

Arrange your Experiential session

An application starts a conversation; it does not reserve a date or require payment.
